

Meeting Notes

Meeting 1: Lianne (Lianne as director, me as designer)

- Monotone colors to match the style of his music and his album covers, possibly pulling these colors from the albums themselves
- Simple/serious font that is not playful, to match the tone of his music
- Include videos of live performances on the site
- Could have a navigation feature at the top to navigate to different pages, or have it all on one page, depending on the length of the content
- Include images of the album covers in the discography section

Meeting 2: Amanda (Amanda as designer and me as director)

- Having the content on one long page to convey the size/depth of space
- Only using content that talks about the earth-moon system
- Having the site look more illustrative and flatter, using vector illustrations, instead of using photographs. (especially in the background)
- Overall, having the site feel educational, but educational for a younger audience (around middle school) since this is information that people around that age are looking for.
- Could have one long background image/background color in the background, or could break up the sections using different colors/shades of a color.
